HAVANA. â?? With the goal of transforming artistic creation into a tool for reflection and social critique, the Womenâ??s Society project will open the group exhibition â??Bodies That Do Not Remain Silentâ?• (Cuerpos que No Callan) this Thursday, November 26. The event will take place at 5:00 p.m. at the Vitrina de Valonia gallery, located at 356 San Ignacio Streetâ??between Teniente Rey and Murallaâ??in Plaza Vieja.

The exhibition brings together the talents of over 50 women artistsâ??both Cuban and internationalâ??who converge in a shared space to highlight the defense of the rights of women and girls, as well as the urgent need to build a society free from violence. Through various mediums, including photography, sculpture, audiovisual art, and painting, each work serves as a voice, an expression, and an act of resistance against gender-based issues.

Beyond the visual arts, the opening offers a multisensory cultural experience. The event will feature live music by Estela and Luz de Luna, a fashion show by designer YADI CRV, and a DJ set presented by the UNBOXING project.

The organizers extend an open invitation to the public to celebrate female talent and join this collective cause. As a symbol of support and awareness against gender-based violence, attendees are encouraged to wear orange.
