Pedro SÃ¡nchez and Alberto NÃºÃ±ez FeijÃ³o will face each other tonight at 10:00 p.m. in the only debate between the two leading candidates for Prime Minister before the general elections on Sunday, November 29. The event, organized by the Television Academy and moderated by its president, journalist MarÃa Casado, will take place at Studio A of Madrid Content City in Tres Cantos and will last about two hours.

It will be the first head-to-head between the two since the 2023 campaign. The debate will be divided into five blocks: housing; the economy and taxation; social policy and public services; corruption and democratic regeneration; and immigration and foreign policy. By draw, FeijÃ³o will open the debate and SÃ¡nchez will have the last word. It will be broadcast live by RTVE â??La 1, Canal 24 Horas, TVE Internacional, RNE and RTVE Playâ?? as well as Antena 3, laSexta, Telecinco, Cuatro and La SÃ©ptima, among other channels.

Both candidates arrive with the polls against the Prime Minister: the latest 40dB. tracking poll for El PaÃs and Cadena SER gives the PPâ??Vox bloc 192 seats, with the PP at 32.4% of the vote against 30.4% for the PSOE. The campaign, which began on Friday the 13th, thus enters its decisive stretch: on Monday the 23rd RTVE will host a debate with eight parliamentary spokespersons, and another leadersâ?? debate is scheduled for Thursday the 26th. On Sunday the 29th, Spain returns to the polls to elect 350 deputies and 208 senators.
